Academic Extension at the University of Oregon provides exceptional credit and noncredit educational opportunities to people seeking university-level instruction and enrichment beyond the traditional campus experience. Activities include for-credit and noncredit lectures, conferences, seminars, workshops, and formal courses with opportunities to earn a variety of credentials, from nondegree certificates of completion to a graduate degree.

Academic Programs

Applied Information Management (AIM) Master’s Degree
aim.uoregon.edu

This interdisciplinary master of science degree is designed to engage midcareer professionals in relevant studies in information management, information design, business management, and applied research. Course work is fully online. See the Graduate Studies section of this catalog for a complete program description.

Community Education
cep.uoregon.edu

An important dimension of the University of Oregon’s responsibility to continuing education is the Community Education Program, which makes university courses available to people who are not formally admitted to the university. Community education students may register for a maximum of 8 credits per academic term at reduced fees. Credits earned through the Community Education Program are listed on a student’s permanent UO academic record.

Distance Education
de.uoregon.edu

Distance Education’s online format provides both admitted and community education students the flexibility of completing course work outside the traditional classroom setting. Courses follow the academic term schedule. Delivery format and assessment methods vary by course but all require frequent access to e-mail and the Internet. Some courses have examinations that are administered by the Social Science Instructional Laboratories.

Professional Development for Educators pde.uoregon.edu

Professional Development for Educators partners with academic departments within the UO to offer courses, workshops, and conferences that grant graduate credit or professional development units for in-service teachers. Workshops meet licensure requirements for K-12 educators and fulfill new professional development and continuing education initiatives.

Substance Abuse Prevention Program
sapp.uoregon.edu

The Substance Abuse Prevention Program (SAPP) is an academic training program that provides course work in the areas of alcohol and other drug prevention, intervention, treatment, and recovery, as well as related topics. See the Counseling Psychology and Human Services section of this catalog for a complete program description.

Summer Session
uosummer.uoregon.edu

Enrollment during summer session does not require formal admission to the university. Summer courses carry university credit and begin throughout the summer. Most academic departments, schools, and colleges at the university offer courses in summer. Enrollment in summer is about 40 percent of academic year enrollment, which results in smaller classes. Detailed information about summer courses, fees, and registration is available on the summer session website in early March. The 12-week 2016 summer session lasts from June 20 to September 9.

Financial Aid

The university can assist students with loans, grants, and part-time work during the summer. Financial aid is available only for students who are admitted to the university and enrolled in a program leading to a degree. A student must be in good academic standing to receive financial aid. Additional information and application forms are available on the UO financial aid website.

Housing

Single- and multiple-occupancy rooms in university residence halls are available in summer. Student family housing is limited because year-round students occupy most units during the summer. Rental houses, apartments, and various short-term rentals are available near the campus.

Sustainability Leadership Program sustain.uoregon.edu

This program offers a series of workshops on sustainability practices, designed to provide theoretical foundations and practical tools to produce sustainable economic, social, and environmental outcomes for both public and private sectors. A certificate of completion option is available. Academic credit from the School of Architecture and Allied Arts is available for most sessions.

Lifelong Learning
Osher Lifelong Learning Institute
oshier.uoregon.edu

This noncredit, self-support program was originally established in 1993 as Learning in Retirement. Designed to meet the educational interests of mature adults, the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the University of Oregon offers programming at Eugene-Springfield and central Oregon program sites. The curriculum explores the humanities, the sciences, current affairs, and the arts, through a varied schedule of lectures, short courses, study and discussion groups, and other activities. An annual fee covers participation in the majority of program offerings. Previous attendance or association with the University of Oregon is not required for membership.

Road Scholar Program academicextension.uoregon.edu/roadscholar

Road Scholar is the new name for programs offered by Elderhostel Inc., the nonprofit world leader in educational travel for lifelong learners.
Working in cooperation with the Oregon Bach Festival and Cinema Pacific, Academic Extension offers weeklong Road Scholar sessions in conjunction with these UO-based festivals. The Road Scholar Program offers in-depth and behind-the-scenes learning experiences that blend festival events with lectures, lecture demonstrations, and exclusive events led by guest artists and University of Oregon faculty members.

Customized Training

Courses can be designed to meet the needs of a particular group or organization at the local, regional, or national level, for business, industry, public utilities, and education.

Conferences and Special Programs

Administrative support is provided for a variety of conferences and noncredit workshops, including events offered by academic departments and individual faculty members developing activities for UO students and community members, academic societies, association regional meetings, and nonacademic community-interest programs.
